LIFE! LIFE!! LIFE!!!

"All that a man hath will he give for his life," so we find recorded in the most ancient and best of books, but as we see thousands dying around us with Consumption, Croup, Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, Spitting Blood, and other Pulmonary affections, we are led to doubt the correctness of the above assertion, especially since it is so well known that a certain remedy may be obtained, which always arrests those diseases.

Dr. JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT never fails to give relief, and cures after every other means have failed. This can be and has been proved in thousands of instances, where it has effected radical cures, after the patient had been given up by all his friends and physicians.

JAYNE'S SANATIVE PILLS.

These pills may be taken at all times, and in most diseases: in inflammatory, intermittent, remittent, bilious, and every form of FEVER—Jaundice and Liver Complaint.—For Dyspepsia they are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the stomach and liver, and producing healthy action in those important organs. They are very valuable for diseases of the skin, and for what is commonly called impurity of the Blood; also for Female Complaints, Costiveness, &c., and in fact every disease where an Aperient, Alterative, or purgative medicine may be required.

Dyspepsia positively can be cured by a perseverring use of this Sanative, especially if the Tonic Vermifuge be used in conjunction.

Prepared only by Dr. D. Jayne, No. 8 South Third street, Philadelphia.

The Prarie.

Huzzah! and away o'er the prarie we'll bound,
And laugh as the forests grow dim;
A soul stirring tramp shall re-echo the sound,
And our coursers keep pace with the whim.

O how proudly he leaps each ravine & stream,
How he prances mid'st flowers and birds,
What to us is the city, its pomp and its dream,
As we dash by the wild-sweeping herds;

Oh there's life in the plain: the deer wildly bounding,
The buffalo glad, with dark waving mane,
The merry loud laugh, no wanton astounding,
Huzza! and away on the gay, 'namelled plain

What to us is the meed of a languid affection,
Corrupted by sloth, and lascivious care?
Each moment we live hath its own sweet correction,
And a love-breathing spirit, ye have not to share.

Then away, then! nor linger, on hill or in valley
The dew is but fresh on the wide spreading main,
Away! for there's life in the spirits that rally
To joy in the incense that springs from the plain!

Twilight Musings.

When twilight on the Earth its shadow casts, and all is hushed save the low rippling of the brooks, or surges gently breaking on the distant shore, the passing breeze is redolent with incense from each flower that seeks the fields and valleys, the fleecy clouds in silent grandeur move along in unison with Earth's loveliness. When the tired spirit sick of the vanities of Time would soar away and be at rest—How sweet at such an hour to steal away from earthly cares, to seek communion with the Deity, and with ourselves, to ponder on the past, the present and the future. The past, how many thoughts now croud upon the heart, as memory recalls those scenes gone by: when youth buoyant with hope, eager to grasp each promised pleasure, dreamed not that disappointment ere could mar what seemed so fair. Still there are memories dear to the heart—friends of our early youth—years that cherished us with fond affection, and sought to guide our wayward feet in wisdoms ways, to fit us for the cares of after life. But they have passed from earth—Perhaps from their bright home above, they still may view those they have left to linger awhile in this changing world. It is a pleasing thought that unseen by mortal eye they may hover around us, and in the hour of Death may be messengers sent from on high to lead the way to where the weary rest.

The past is gone, and with it much that we loved to dwell upon, many opportunities for the exercise of the social virtues are lost in oblivion, the present is ours to improve and to retrieve in part those errors that we have committed, to prepare for what may still be before us, that when we are summoned to dwell on Earth no more we may depart and be at peace. A CLOCK ON A NEW PLAN.—Galignadi mentions that a watch maker of Paris has constructed a clock of a curious and most ingenious nature. It is made with eleven dials. The principal dial shows the hour alone; a transparent one, immediately below the former, shows the progression and retrogression of the sun; two others, also transparent, and through which the mechanism of this immense machine can be seen, mark, the one the days of the month, the other the seconds. Eight square enamelled dials are arranged around the two sides of the pendulum, and show the hour in each of the following cities: London, Algiers, Alexandria, St. Helena, Otaheita, Canton, New York and St. Petersburg. Each of these dials is marked with 24 hours, instead of 12, so as to show the hours of the day and those of the night. Lastly, the pendulum carries a large metrical scale, indicating the degree of expansion and contraction of metal. This clock cost 14,000 franks, or about £600.

In General Assembly, October Session, A. D. 1846.

AN ACT in addition to an amendment of an act relating to Public Schools, passed June, A. D. 1845.

It is enacted by the General Assembly as follows:—

Section 1. The Moderator and Clerk of a school district may, on being elected, administer the necessary engagement each to the other in open meeting; and when so engaged, or if engaged before any other officer in open meeting, the record of the clerk shall be presumtive evidence thereof.

Sec. 2. The record of the Clerk, that a meeting has been duly or legally notified, shall be presumtive evidence that it has been notified as the law requires.

Sec. 3. Inhabitants of school districts or persons paying taxes therein shall be competent witnesses in all civil and criminal cases, notwithstanding their interests as such, if not otherwise disqualified.

Sec. 4. The Clerk, Collector, Treasurer and all trustees of districts shall hold office until their successors are qualified to act.

Sec. 5. The school committees shall have the sole power (subject to appeal) of lying off and altering school districts, subject to the provisio of section IV.—¶ 1. of the act of June session A. D. 1845: Provided, that where there are no districts the Committee shall not proceed to lay off districts without the direction of the town. And all votes of school committees laying off or altering school districts, passed since June session A. D. 1846, not inconsistent with the foregoing provisios and not appealed from, are hereby confirmed.

Sec. 6. A district may authorize its trustee to fix a rate of tuition or assessment instead of fixing it themselves; and either district or trustee shall exempt therefrom such as they may consider unable to pay the same; and the ratebill therefor shall be collected by the district collector in the same manner as if it was for town taxes.

Sec. 7. Any person committed to jail by the district collector either for a tax or a rate bill for tuition or assessments shall be entitled to the benefit of "An act for the relief of poor persons imprisoned for debt," in the same manner as if committed for town taxes. And any person assessed in any rate bill as aforesaid, may, before committment, apply to any justice of the peace in the town out of the district for a citation to the trustee or trustees to appear at a time and place named within said district, and show cause why he should not be admitted to take the oath prescribed in said act; said citation shall be served three days before the time appointed upon the trustee (or upon any one of them if more than one) and the applicant shall be heard before the Justice signing the citation, and by him be admitted to take the oath aforesaid; and a certificate thereof, signed by him, shall be a full protection to the applicant against any further proceedings for collecting said rate. And the service of the citation aforesaid shall suspend such proceedings for at least ten days, unless the case be sooner heard and disposed of.

Sec. 8. All doings of districts and district officers in cases where the latter were not engaged as required by law, shall nevertheless be valied, provided they be engaged within thirty days from the passage of this act.

Sec. 9. In dividing for this year, that portion of the State money which is to be divided according to the attendance of last year, the school committee shall have power to make the division to the best of their discretion as near thereto as may be.

Sec. 10. Any officer of a district who shall willfully and knowingly refuse to perform any duty imposed upon him by any of the acts relating to public schools, or who shall wilfully and knowingly violate the provisions of said laws, may be indicted therefor, and on conviction fined not exceeding five hundred dollars, and shall besides be liable to suit for any damages any person may suffer thereby.

Sec. 11. When any town shall neglect to direct how the money raised from the town and registry taxes shall be divided, the school committee may divide it.

Sec. 12. Where a whole district unites with the whole or part of a district in another town, to form a joint district, according to section XIX of the act of June A. D. 1845, it shall be entitled to its full proportion of school money, as if it were not a joint district; and when a part of a district unites to form a joint district, the school committee shall assign to it such portion of the school money as they may deem proper.

Sec. 13. A school district may organise at any time after the proper notice; and all organizations of school districts made in any other month than that fixed for the annual meeting, and legally notified and otherwise legally held, are hereby confirmed.

Sec. 14. Section XIII, ¶ 5, and so much of section IV, ¶ 4, of the school act of June, 1845, as requires the number of the school committee to be fixed at the first meeting held after the passage of that act, are hereby repealed, and the said number may be fixed at any annual town election.

THE BRIDAL GIFT.

A TALE.

THERE was merriment and rejoicing in the little village of Isley, for one of its prettiest maidens was that day to be led to the altar by one of its honestest youths. It was the season of temporary repose and of anxious hope, between the hay and the corn harvest, which is perhaps one of the most interesting of the whole year. Two or three clusters of villagers were seen in the churchyard, looking with happy haste for the arrival of the bride and bridegroom; their smiling faces in harmony with the universal brightness of the landscape which lay around. The Thames, which is here but a little streamlet, was sparkling in the beaming sunshine, or reflecting the few passing clouds of a summer morning;—the cattle were grazing in the green fields, which were now free for their unconfined enjoyment;—the light breeze was passing over the ripening corn, swaying it with the most graceful and wave-like motion. The old Saxon church stood amidst the graves of twenty generations, a splendid monument of an ancient piety.—As the aged people sat in its spacious porch, they looked back to the time when their hopes of happiness had been as ardent as those of the young pair, who were now approaching to begin the same course of domestic comfort, which they had sought in the morning of their lives; and some sighed for disappointed expectations, and some wept for their departed companions. As the youthful folks tripped over the green mounds whose lessons were at that moment forgotten, they thought only of life as of one long summer day, and they looked at the happiness they were about to witness as something which might be privileged from the clouds and storms of maturer years. But the approach of the minister disturbed their reveries.

Alice Holt and James Webb had plighted their vows, and the bells of the old tower were pouring forth that music which is always sweet, and the smiling gossips had strewed flowers in their way, and the kind hearted pastor had given them an affectionate greeting, when a reverend stranger stood in their homeward path and implored a blessing for them. The young people returned his salutation with natural politeness, and invited him to partake of their humble entertainment. There was something in the stranger's appearance that on any ordinary occasion would have commanded respect. His dress was very plain but extremely neat;—his garb was of an antiquated fashion, but it seemed as if no modern taste would accord with the wearer. His long grey hair curled upon his unstooping shoulders; and his staff seemed rather the companion of a vigorous man than the support of an infirm one. The stranger accepted the offer which was made him, and took his seat at the wedding festival without causing or experiencing embarrassmant.

After the cup had gone merrily round to those pledges of good will which were much sincerer than the compliments of more splendid boards, the stranger rose to propose a sentiment. Adapting his language to the homely garb in which the feelings of the other guests had been expressed, he exclaimed, with much emphasis, "May a good turn never be forgotten." The toast went round, but the stranger did not sit down. "My friends," he continued. "I came here this day to pay a debt. It is of very long standing, but the obligation to discharge it is not the less absolute.—Thirty years ago I lived in this villiage. There is a token by which that good old man in the chimney corner will remember me, but that is for his own ear, I was in trade;—my means were small,—and I was unfortunate.—I sold all; and I thank God I paid all that I was in debt. Without a shilling in the world, I determined to go ahead. My resolution was acted upon; and I communicated it to none but the father of Alice Holt. On the morning of my departure he met me at the mill. He was the best friend I ever had.—He wept like a child at our separation, and—excuse my own tears—he thrust a purse into my hands, which I believe contained the savings of his life. I struggled against receiving the gift; but he would hear of no excuse. My wants, said he are few and are well satisfied. A little more labor will make me once again as rich; but for you to be voyaging to a foreign land, without a penny to buy your respect, I cannot hear it. Pay me if ever you should come home rich; if you find me gone, I may leave a wife or a child that you may return it to.

There was a deep silence in all the company; and the bride was in tears.—"Alice," continued the stranger, "do not think me an intruder upon your mirth if I thus call up the memory of the most kind-hearted man I ever knew. Those are sweet tears which you shed, and you owe them to such a father. That happiness is the most secure which can afford to listen to the claims of truth and feeling. But to continue my story.—Your father left ten pounds in my hand, and I made a secret vow that no temptation of idleness or folly should prevent me putting his loan to good interest.—I obtained a passage to one of our colonies. I engaged in a very humble employment; but I gradually saved money. I grew in the confidence of my master, and my salary was increased. I at length obtained a small share in his business; I exerted myself so much, that after some years I was admitted to half the profits. My partner died, and I stood in his place, an opulent British merchant. I at length came home with more than I deserve. But my good fortune has been the work of another's bounty; and I shall consider myself a steward for my fellow creatures. Alice, there is the amount of your father's loan,—it could not be returned in a better season. Young man," continued he, addressing himself to the bridegroom, "I have heard that you are honest, industrious, and pious. Your wife has her father's features, and, I trust, her father's heart. The debt I have paid will be a marriage portion, not the less acceptable for being unexpected. It will stock a farm; frugality and prudence will make it profitable to you."

Alice and her husband rose to stammer out their thanks—for the paper which the stranger presented to the bride was a note for a thousand pounds. The wondering guests also rose with one accord—but the stranger was gone.

The bridal gift was not bestowed upon unworthy objects. James and Alice were not intoxicated by their good fortune. They had abundance, and something for the necessitous.

THE WIFE.—How sweet to the soul of man, says Hierocles, is the society of a beloved wife; when wearied and broken down with the labors of the day, her endearments to soothe, her tender care to restore him. The solicitude, the anxieties, and the heaviest misfortunes of life are hardly to be borne by him who has the weight of business and domestic care at the same time to contend with. But how much lighter do they seem, when the necessary avocations are over, and he returns to his home, and finds, there a partner of his griefs and troubles, who takes for his sake, her share of domestic labor upon her, and soothes the anguish of his anticipations. A wife is not as she is falsely represented and esteemed by some, a burthen or a sorrow to man. No, she shares his burthen, and alleviates his sorrows, for there is no difficulty so heavy or so insupportable in life, but, it may be surmounted by mutual labors, and the affectionate concern of that holy partnership.

ANECDOTE OF THE TWIN SISTERS.—We know of a farmer in Connecticut who had a pair of twin daughters, of whom a capital anecdote is told. They both attended the same school, and not long since one of them was called up by the master to recite a lesson in geography, which she had learned very imperfectly, and in fact could not go on at all. The teacher who was getting quite out of patience, was called to another part of the room, and just at that moment the twin sister sprang on the floor unobserved, and pushing the delinquent scholar to her seat took her place.—The master proceeded with the questions, which were answered with a degree of promptness, and accuracy which, at the close drew forth from him a few words of commendation. The joke was not discovered by the teacher until some days after. Of course it was too good and successful to occasion any offence.

Connecticut paper.

Purity of heart depends much, so far as our moral agency is concerned, on keeping the imagination free from the secret contemplation of forbidden objects. Keep the door of the imagination barred against unlawful visitors, and the citadel of the soul is safe.

A Pittsburg paper says that a field of potatoes was wholly destroyed by the rot, but was permitted to lie over to this season without culture, and it was discovered to have produced a fine crop of potatoes, without a symptom of disease.

Late Foreign Intelligence.

Arrival of the Acadia.

15 Days Later from ENGLAND.

The British mail steamer ACADIA, Capt. Harrison, arrived at Boston on Tuesday morning last, having left Liverpool on the 4th, and Halifax on the 5th. By this vessel and the GREAT WESTERN, which arrived at New York, on Monday last, regular files of London papers to the 3d, and Liverpool to the 4th inst. have been received by the Boston Daily Advertiser, from which we take the following summary of their news.

The Acadia had 56 passengers from Liverpool to Halifax, 53 from Liverpool to Boston, and 8 from Halifax to Boston. She is manned by the officers and crew of the Hibernia, which is hauled up for repairs.

The cotton market was quiet, with a small decline. The grain market shows a decline in prices of all articles excepting Indian corn.

The British Government had determined not to call Parliament together until the 12th of January. This seems to have been generally considered as decisive against the opening of the ports to the free admission of grain, which had been loudly called for in some quarters.

Very serious insurrections have taken place in Portugal, amounting almost to a revolution directed against the Saldanha ministry. It first broke out in Oporto, but was followed immediately in other places, and had not been unfelt at Lisbon. The London News of the 3d says:

The extent to which the insurrection has spread may be collected from the fact that the royal authority is only acknowledged in Lisbon, and through a space of some dozen miles around it.—On the 19th, Saldanha, having ordered the 11th regiment of infantry, stationed at Elvar, to march to Lisbon, the regiment on arriving at Estremoz proclaimed the insurrection and marched to Evara. The 12th regiment followed the same example. The people have enrolled themselves in the Alentejo. An insurrectional junta was formed at Beja, to direct the movement. Lisbon was, in fact, in a state of seige. Numerous arrests were made from hour to hour, even on the slightest suspicion. The alarm in the Palace was extreme. The King gave up all thoughts of leaving the capital.—The total amount of force disposable by the goverament was 4 or 5000 men, hastily enlisted and undisciplined. All the civil servants of the government were enrolled. Even children and old men were seen under arms. Without the aid of the bank the government must have fallen, but even with that assistance the situation was becoming hourly more critical. The only hope was dissension among the insurgents.

The Great Britain was still unmoved from the bar on which she struck, but the directors have not yet given up hopes of rescuing her.

The American Consul at Hamburg, lately refused passports to a party of convicts from Mecklenburg Schwerin, which the Mecklenburg government were sending to this country, and sent them back with a protest against such conduct on the part of that government.

The Queen of England, with her family, have been making a series of visits to the seats of several of the nobility, and were soon to go to Arundel Castle, the seat of the Duke of Norfolk.

Mons. Guizot has not been made the nominal as he is the actual head of the French Ministry as had been expected, and Marshal Soult has withdrawn his resignation of that post. This is ascribed to English influence, it being asserted that Lord Normandy at Paris, and Lord Palmerston at London, remonstrated against the promotion of M. Guizot, on the ground that in the present state of feeling of the English people with regard to that gentleman, it would be considered a hostile demonstration on the part of the French Government.

The British steam frigate Cyclops, outward bound on a cruise, and the Oriental Steam Company's Iron steam ship Pottinger, on her return from her first voyage from Alexandria, went aground in a fog on the morning of the 1st. inst. in Shorness Bay, near Cowes, within half a mile of each other. The passengers and mail were landed from the former, and on the following day both vessels were gotten off without injury.—The Cyclops was bound to Portugal.

Mr Bancroft the Minister of the United States, arrived at Long's Hotel in London, with his lady and family, Oct. 31. Mr. Bancroft went out in the Great Western, which left New York Oct. 8, and arrived at Liverpool on the morning of the 26th.

Sir Henry Pottinger, appointed Governor of the Cape of Good Hope, had an interview with Earl Grey at the Colonial office, Nov. 2, preparatory to his departure.

The English and French papers keep up the tone of constant recrimination, each toward the government of the other, and both hold out the idea that their respective governments participate in the feelings thus indicated. The London Times of the 3d, says that "it is asserted in the Court circles, that the French Charge d'Affaires, or Minister Plenipotentiary, in London, Count Jarnac, had presented to Lord Palmerston a note from M. Guizot, complaining of the terms in which the English papers speak of the Montpensier marriage, and of the manner in which that marriage had been brought about. This must be a mistake. The English Journals have spoken as they felt, we suppose, and have in some instances spoken in terms that would seem to invite Court prosecution. There is, however, at the head of the Foreign Department of the French Government a personage who, for peculiar reasons, would be the last to take a step so everlastingly ridiculous and so utterly fruitless as to complain to the British Government of the independent tone taken by the English Press. Our correspondent must be misinformed."

THE OVERLAND MAIL.—The despatches in anticipation of the overland mail, which left Bombay on the 1st of October, had been received. The intelligence thus brought is not of much political importance. At Lahore everything remained quiet, the troops were healthy, and were expecting an early visit of inspection from the Governor-General. Lall Singh betrayed great anxiety as the time for the departure of the British forces approached. From Cabul there were, as usual, rumors of intrigues and insurrections. A report that an English army would invade Peshawur upon the arrival of the cold season, had produced much alarm, and it was said that proposals for a treaty of alliance would be made to Lord Hardinge. An insurrection had broken out in Cashmere, fomented by the Lahore Durbar; and a force sent against the insurgents by Gholab Singh had been defeated with some loss. Several English officers who were visiting the country had been seized and would be detained as hostages, though no fears were entertained for their safety. Cholera was still raging in Scinde, and provisions were so enormously scarce and dear that an obsolute famine was apprehended. At Bombay there was no news. Trade was rather dull, and all transactions on a very limited scale. A volcano had appeared on Saddle Island in the Red Sea.

VALUE OF THE LOST POTATO CROP.—A writer in the London Globe estimates the value of the potato crop of the United Kingdom, at £23.500,000 and sets down the loss to Ireland, in consequence of last year's failure, at £10,000,000. The Cork Reporter calculates that out of 130,888 acres planted with potatoes in that country, 100,666 are already blighted and destroyed.

In Belgium dreadful misery is experienced by the scarcity of food and by the throwing out of work of between 100,000 and 200,000 persons, in consequence of the adoption of machinery in spinning cotton. The price of corn is higher in Belgium than in either France or England.

By the Mails.

From the Pacific.

Accounts from the Pacific of August 22, afford us some interesting particulars:

On the 23d of July, Com. Stockton assumed command of the United States naval forces on the west coast of Mexico. On the 25th, the "Cyane," with the "California company of mounted riflmen," under Col. Fremont, sailed from Monterey for San Diego, that they might be landed southward of the Mexican forces, amounting to five hundred men, under Gen. Castro and Gov. Pico, who were well fortified at the camp of the Mesa, three miles from the "city of the Angels." A few days after, Commodore Stockton, in the "Congress" sailed for San Pedro, where he landed with his gallant sailor army, and marched directly for the redoubtable "camp of the Mesa." When he had come within 12 miles of the camp, Gen. Castro broke ground and ran for the city of Mexico. The governor of the territory, and the other principal officers, separated in different parties; and on the 13th August, having been joined by Col. Fremont and 80 riflemen and by Mr. Larkin, late American consul the commodore entered the famous "Ciudad de los Angeles," the capital of the Californias, and took quiet possession of the government-house. Most of the principal officers were subsequently taken.

The American force thus chased the Mexican army more than 300 miles along the coast,; pursued them 30 miles in the interior of their country; routed and dispersed them, and secured quiet possession of their territory.

The "Congress" was to sail in a few days, on a cruise for the protection of our commerce, and the remaining vessels of the squadron were to be disposed with a view to the same object, so far as they could be spared from the blockade of the southern coast.

The President's proclamation, and the congressional proceeding in reference to the war, were first received by Commodore Stockton, (in a Mexican account) on the 19th of August, by the United States ship Warren, from Mazatlan. The flag of the United States is now flying from every commanding position in the territory of California.

The patriotism and courage of the men who accompanied the commodore on his expedition after Castro, are spoken of in the highest terms. Their march was trying and hazardous, perhaps longer than has ever been made in the interior of a country by sailors after an enemy.

Two more steamers, with Loper propellers, (the Col. Stevens and John Thompson,) have been purchased in Philadelphia by the government, for service in the Gulf of Mexico.

Acquittal of Captain Foster.—The Mobile Herald says that Captain Foster, of the cutter Woodbury, who some time ago was tried by court martial on certain charges, has been acquitted.

The Attack on Alvarado.

The Washington Union publishes extracts from Com. Conner's despatches to the navy department, dated on board the Cumberland, off Vera Cruz, Oct. 17:—

"It is with feelings of deep mortification that I apprise the department of the failure of another attempt to enter the river of Alvarado.

On the morning of the 15th, a little after sunrise, I reached the entrance of that river with the steamer Vixen, the three gun boats, the prize schooner Nonata, mounting four guns, and the revenue vessels, schooner Forward and steamer McLane, accompanied by the Mississippi, Com. Perry. It was intended for the latter vessel to cannonade the battery while the smaller vessels crossed the bar. It was found, however, she could not approach near enough to make any impression on the work with her shells. This battery mounted seven guns, and immediately behind it, on an elevated knoll, was a platform on which was a mounted pivot gun. Knowing the small power of the steamers on which I depended to tow the small vessels over the bar and up the river, I was desirous of having a favorable wind to assist them.—For this purpose I delayed moving until nearly two o'clock, but seeing no prospect of the usual sea breeze setting in, I determined to proceed. The first division composed of the Reefer and Bonita, in tow of the Vixen, got under way, and was followed by the second division, consisting of the Nonata, Forward and Petrel, towed by the McLane. As they approached the bar, the current became stronger, causing the steamers to steer badly, and lessening their progress to not more than a mile or a mile and a half the hour.

The first division continued to advance steadily, and had been some time engaged with the battery, when I had the mortification to see the McLane aground on the bar, and the vessels she had in tow foul of each other in the greatest disorder.

As it was evident no support could be expected from the second division for some time, if at all, and as the three vessels composing the first were wholly inadequate to prosecute the attack, even if they could pass the battery, with which we were engaged, I was constrained to order the Vixen to put about, and repass the bar.

Besides the battery at the entrance of the river, there is another at the town, one and a half miles distant, of three guns, with two brigs, each mounting nine guns, a schooner of seven guns, and two gun boats, each carrying a long 24 pounder—all so disposed as to command the channel. By the time the Vixen joined her, the McLane was again afloat, having sustained no material injury. It was obvious, however, her draft, (ten feet two inches) was too great to pass the bar in its present state. Generally, there are from thirteen to fifteen feet on it, and my information led me to believe I should find that depth now, but the late floods have probably lessened it, as on sounding previously to entering, there were barely 12 feet.

The Vixen struck twice in going over, though drawing only seven feet. The current was also stronger in the river than I expected, and even if she could pass the bar, I felt convinced the power of the McLane was inadequate to make head against it with any vessel in tow.—These considerations—and the day being far spent—induced me, however much against my inclination, to abandon any further attempt at present to enter the river."

Since the abortive attack on Alvarado, which Com. Conner describes in his despatch, he has been joined, in all probability, by the Princeton and the Spitfire—thus considerably increasing his means for attack.

LATER FROM SANTA FE.—Capt. Murphy, of the Missouri volunteers, arrived at St. Louis, on the evening of the 8th inst., having left Santa Fe on the 9th of October, upon government service. He adds but little to the information previously received:—

Part of Col. Price's regiment had reached Santa Fe, and the remainder would arrive on the 10th and the 11th of October. The battalion of Mormons, under Lieut. Col. Smith, had also arrived.

Capt. Murphy met Lieut. Col. Thompson, who had been appointed to the command of the Mormons, at the Willow Bar, on his route to Santa Fe. He had been so unfortunate as to lose all his horses, except four, and would not be able to proceed until he could obtain other animals.

The Pawnee Indians were very troublesome, and had robbed nineteen teamsters, who had been discharged from the service, and were on their return home; and at another point they had fired on the government train, and killed one young man and wounded another.

Provisions were beginning to arrive at Santa Fe, where they had been exceedingly scarce. Trains were met all along the route, but the teams were in bad condition. From our boundary to the Arkansas, the grass was pretty good, but beyond that point it was completely dried up.

The health of the troops at Santa Fe was very good, and we hear of no deaths among them.

Capt. Hudson is to follow Gen. Kearney to California, with his new company, as soon as transportation can be obtained; also Brevet Lieut. Col. Cook, with the Mormon battalion, the command of which has been assigned to him. Col. Doniphan's regiment was under marching orders for Chihuahua.

REPORTED SURRENDER OF CHIHUAHUA TO GEN. WOOL.—The following is from the Lexington, (Missouri) Express of 3d inst., which says—

A gentleman of this city informs us that he perused a letter, a day or two since, which had been received in Camden, giving the particulars of the surrender of Chihuahua to the forces under Gen. Wool.

The army, it seems, entered the city without resistance; the American flag was saluted by the citizens, and after a few hours had elapsed, the American officers were invited to partake of a splendid dinner, which had been prepared for them by the Chihuahuans.

THE UNITED STATES LOAN.—The following from the Washington Union, may be considered as official:—

The whole loan has been taken by various bidders at prices ranging from par to five per cent. premium for a small portion, but chiefly at par. The amount offered exceeded the sum of five million. An additional bid was made for the whole at 1 5-100ths premium. This bid being an entirety, must have been taken for the whole, because it amounted, in the aggregate for the whole to a larger sum and premium than the other bids combined, and would have realized a larger surplus to the government. The bidder who resided in New York, being unknown here, and great doubts being entertained as to his ability to pay the money, in compliance with the wish of the Secretary, Mr Young, the Chief Clerk of the Treasury Department, proceeded to New York to ascertain whether this bidder for the whole could pay the whole. He failed to do so after notice, when his bid was this day rejected, and the amount awarded to the other bidders. A few bidders for small amounts, whose letters did not arrive until the day succeeding the opening of the bids, of course will lose their bids.

Perilous Voyage.—Some valuable manuscript records of the early history of Georgia were shipped from Liverpool more than six months ago, and, on their passage to Savannah, the vessel was wrecked on the coast of North Carolina. They were re-shipped, and again the vessel was wrecked. Eventually, they were sent in their wet and sobby condition to New York, where a Savannah gentleman took possession of them for the Historical Society. Although the papers are thoroughly soaked with salt water, yet the ink has resisted its action, and the writing is entirely legible.

American Ingenuity still in the Ascendant.—There seems to be no end to the triumphs of Yankee ingenuity. An article of great economy and utility for family use has just been shown us, which is to be known by the name of Dummond's Patent Candle Maker. It is simply a candlestick, which wicks and makes the candle as it burns, and by turning the cylinder or reservoir containing the tallow, (which is poured in while in a melted state,) a short or a long length may be produced as is desired.—One of the greatest features of this new notion is, that it requires to be filled but once a week, and we recommend all neat and economical housekeepers to look at them, inasmuch as any or all waste grease that can be hardened may be used in them. We know from experience that candles made in the Patent Candle Maker will burn at least one third longer than those made in the ordinary way.—N. Y. Gazette.

PROVIDENTIAL ESCAPE.—Discovery of the cutting of the rope of the Inclined Planes of the Columbia Railroad.—Last evening, as the first train of cars from Columbia were coming down, and while at the head of the Inclined Plane, they providentially escaped a frighful accident that would have ensued. Some person had, probably with an axe, nearly severed the rope, so that when the first train come down, it must part. This diabolical stratagem was however, seen by a foot passenger, who as soon as he discovered it, hastened to the head of the Planes, where he arrived just in time to prevent the cars from starting. No doubt, had he arrived a minute later, or had he not discovered the parting in the rope, the whole train would have been dashed to pieces at the foot of the Planes, against the bridge, and the amount of damage to life and limb, would have been very heavy, as the cars were filled with passengers at the time. The cars were detained nearly three hours, until the rope could be spliced again.—[Scott's Weekly Newspaper.

Liquor Cases in Berkshire.—At the recent term of the Common Pleas Court in Berkshire, a large number of indictments for violations of the license law were quashed by the Court for informality, the name of the persons to whom sales of liquor were made not being stated. Some six or seven persons were tried, and the jury disagreed, notwithstanding the proof was clear and satisfactory. In one case, which was a sale of liquor connected with the murder of an Irishman in Windsor, in August last, a verdict of guilty was rendered.

BANGOR LUMBER.—The quantity of sawed lumber surveyed the present season will amount to about one hundred and fifty million feet; falling short of the survey of last year between twenty and thirty million feet. Short lumber brings higher prices now, than for several years past.—Bangor Courier.

FLORIDA OLIVES.—The editor of the St. Augustine News has been presented with some fine fresh olives, the growth of that place. The soil and climate of that State are said to be well adapted to the cultivation of this fruit, which, besides being a delicious table fruit, is an important article of commerce.

An extraordinary scene took place in New York a few days since, at a bridal congratulation: A man named Sherwood married a daughter of Mr. Flock, a butcher in Broadway. Subsequently to the performance of the marriage ceremony the friends of the bride were invited to call on her on the evening of her marriage, and she was accordingly visited and congratulated by a large number of friends. While these interesting formalities were going on, a gentleman stepped up to Mrs Flock, the mother of the bride, and informed her that the apparently happy and delighted bridegroom was a married man, and that his wife was living in Westchester county. Mrs Flock thanked the gentleman for his kindness, and at once determined she would thwart him in his design, but would wait until the company had retired. So soon as the visitors had departed, Mrs Flock went up to the gay bridegroom and charged him with his treachery, the bigamist was confounded. The interview resulted in his expulsion from the house. The next day Mr. Flock went to Westchester and ascertained beyond a doubt that Sherwood had a wife there, with whom he had a conversation. He then made an affidavit of the fact, and Sherwood, who had returned to his home, was arrested.

Another Romantic Affair.—A young lady and gentleman who had recently taken a great fancy for each other, left this city about a fornight since telling their friends they were going to Lynn, on a trip of pleasure. They returned in two or three days, and things went on as usual with them, their friends not suspecting any thing until Saturday last, when the happy pair announced that they went to New York city during their absence, got married, and had been enjoying the sweets of the honey-moon for nearly two weeks. Not quite an elopement, for all parties were agreed; but it made the thing a little more romantic.

Boston Star.

A young man belonging to Pittston, Me., eloped last Sunday with a girl of but fourteen years of age, belonging to Hallowell. He is of dark complexion, and about 5 feet 10 inches high. The girl has a scar in the form of a half moon on one cheek. Besides the girl the fellow stole a horse and buggy.

PAYING FOR IT!—At the late term of the Court of Common Pleas in Hume county, Ohio, a false swain named Howard Morse, was assessed by the jury four thousand dollars, for refusing to wed Miss Cyntha Ann Clark, after he had promised to do so. Young men in such cases should promise with caution, but always keep their promises.—Boston Journal.

ANOTHER.—The New Bedford Mercury reports a law case which was decided on Tuesday last by a verdict in the Supreme Judicial Court, in which Daniel Himes recovered $20 damages in a suit against Eliza Ann Smith for a breach of promise to marry. The defendant is a young lady of 19 years of age.

A wealthy man in Kentucky married a pretty brunette, with whom he fell in love not long ago. While the honey-moon was yet bright, a man from Tennessee came along, and found the wife to be a runaway yellow girl belonging to him.—Boston Post.

It is said that the number of children born in the United States in a year is 450,000. It is calculated that only one half live to be 21 years old.

POLICE STATISTICS.—The number of arrests made in this city, during the last six months, is 15,793. Of these, 4,526 were for intoxication; vagrants, 1,259; disorderly conduct, 3,239; petit larcenies, 1,090; street fighting, 2,168; prostitutes, 324. And it is reported that this enlightened and christian city, contains 574 houses of ill fame, accommodating 1,417 abandoned women.

Steam Flour Mill.—The Bostonians have added, to the other improvements of their town, an elegant steam flour mill, with eight run of stones, that can grind 500 to 600 bbls flour per day. It runs night and day, the motion power being two engines of 60 horse power, which will consume 2000 tons of anthracite coal per annum. The number of hands employed is fifty, exclusive of the female labor required to make bags, in which it is intended to pack flour for domestic use. The mill is under the superintendance of millers from Rochester.

BURNED TO DEATH.—The dwelling house of Mr. Thomas Cook, in Lordstown, Trumbull county, Ohio, was burned on the morning of the 31st ult., and Mrs. Cook was burned to death in the house. Mr. Cook was absent, and the family were awakened by the fire about 3 o'clock. Mrs. Cook got out her children, returned for a pocket book and some other valuables, when the building fell in and enveloped her in the flames.

The carpet weavers of Thompsonville, went to work last week. The prices were compromised between them and the employers, and fixed at 15 1-2 per cent. reduction from the old prices.

CAMBRIDGE OBSERVATORY.—The great telescope ordered from Germany has been shipped by the New York packet Margaret Evans. Positive orders were sent to forward it by one of the mail line steamers to this port; but treaty stipulations as to shipment in British vessels of foreign products, are said to have prevented this mode of conveyance, and incurred the risk of six thousand dollars for duty upon the instrument should it not arrive before Dec. 1st, when the new tariff commences its operation.—Boston Post.

APPLES.—There is a heavy crop of Baldwin apples, and some other kinds this year, but the old standard Russet has made an uncommon failure, and the crop is hardly worth harvesting. Noah Marston, Esq, of Greenland, N. H., has taken seventy barrels of picked Baldwin apples from six trees. This does not include a considerable quantity of inferior fruit, which was sold without barrelling.—Newburyport Herald.

Sentenced to be hung.—Wm. A. Powell was tried at the last court of sessions in Darlington district, for stealing a negro boy from his master, and being found guilty, was sentenced by Judge O'Neale to be hung on the first Friday in January next. The boy was only 12 years old, and Powell succeeded in inveigling him, not only from his owner, but from his mother also. He carried him to Florida, where he afterwards sold him as a slave.

South Carolinian.

The Common Council of Brooklyn, viewing the late outrage in breaking the beautiful windows of the Church of the Holy Trinity in the proper light, have very promptly offered a reward of ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS for the arrest of the vandals who perpetrated it.

A fatal accident occurred at the house of Mr. John Lewis, near the village of Spotswood, N. J., on the night of the 11th inst. It appears that Mr. Lewis had been oiling his gun, and was in the act of hanging it up, when it accidently discharged, the whole load entering his wife's thigh, the unavoidable hemorrhage causing her death before any surgical assistance could be rendered.

The Albany Robbery.—Some time since we published an account of the robbery of a party of German immigrants at Albany by which their whole property, in golden coin, was taken from them. Accident has brought out some of the circumstances of this nefarious transaction, and the police of Albany have arrested several persons connected therewith, and have recovered $1700 of the money stolen. One of the gang, named Elias Kent, died in Albany jail on Saturday evening, of delirium tremens.

ACCIDENT.—A Frenchman, whilst endeavoring to get on the last train of cars from Boston to Lowell, on Monday evening, after the cars had started, fell between the step and the wheel, in such manner that several of the cars passed over his leg, completely severing it from his body. He was taken to the Hospital.

MACKERELING.—The weather has held out unusually mild up to the present time, and a large quantity of mackerel have been taken in the Bay within a few weeks. During the last week several vessels from Truro caught each a hundred wash barrels in a day.

Barnstable Patriot.

The Norristown, Pa., Register says that on Wednesday last, the Rev. Henry Gerhard, of Hatfield township, came to his death in a sudden and afflicting manner. He was harnessing his horse to a vehicle, and discovering that he had put on the wrong blind halter, endeavored to change it, when the horse escaped from him, and while trying to catch him, he was crushed between the wheel and gate post. He walked to the house, a short distance, and expired in about ten minutes. He was in the 64th year of his age.

LAW CASE.—Messrs. Robb & Hodges of New Orleans, La., recently recovered a verdict of $157 000 and interest, against the Second Municipality. An action was brought to recover the amount of Municipality notes, and the defence made, irregularity of issue, which was most promptly thrown out of court, and the credit of the Municipality preserved.

The Frankfort (Ky.) Commonwealth notices the death in Woodford county, on the 24th ult., of Henry, an old servant of James H. Elliot, Esq., at the advanced age of one hundred and twelve years.—He was born in Maryland, and at two years old was taken to Staunton, Va., afterward to Kentucky, where he spent the larger portion of his life. At 84 years old he married his fourth wife, and raised a family of seven children. He was a faithful servant, an honest man, and died a Christian.

HALL THIEVES.—A rogue made his appearance in the hall of a house in Broadway, New York, on Wednesday evening last, and told the servant that he wanted to see Dr. Van Nest. The servant thought the man one of the Doctor's patients; and when she went to call him, the rogue seized upon all the coats in the hall and decamped.

FIFTY DOLLARS REWARD is offered for the finding of an advertisement which is said to have appeared in some of the N. Y. city papers within a year or two, addressed to the heirs of Edward and Ruth Parry.

THE NEWPORT MERCURY.

Newport.

SATURDAY, Nov. 21, 1846.

The Court of Common Pleas for the County of Newport, will hold its November term in this town next week.

☞ Owing to the late drought, we have been disappointed in not receiving from our Paper Maker the usual supply of paper, and in consequence have been obliged to use this week that of an inferior quality.

FIRE.—At about half past eleven o'clock on Saturday night last, a fire was discovered in one of the shops in the building in Thames street, belonging to Mrs. Townsend, which was occupied as a shoe store by Mr. Isaac Bowen. When first discovered it presented a most threatening aspect, but by the prompt exertion of the firemen, aided by a plentiful supply of water from the Dock, the fire was confined to the place where it originated and was speedily extinguished. Most of the stock of Mr. Bowen, consisting of Boots, Shoes, &c., was destroyed, on which we learn he was insured for $800 at one of the Providence offices.

Those who are familiar with the premises, will at once comprehend, that had it not been for the timely discovery and the favorable state of the weather, we should have had a most destructive conflagration.

ANOTHER FIRE.—On Monday evening about 8 o'clock, the Counting Room of Capt. Charles Devens on his wharf, was discovered to be on fire; the flames were soon extinguished but not without considerable damage to the books, papers &c. The fire is supposed to have been the work of an incendiary, and several boys have been since taken up on suspicion and examined, but no positive proof having been found, they were discharged.

At a meeting last evening, the following persons were elected Delegates from this town to the Democratic Convention to be holden at Providence on the 24th inst.

Sanford Bell, A. M. M'Greggor, Silas Sisson, Daniel B. Davis, Henry Oman, Wm. Ennis.

State Elections.

MASSACHUSETTS.—The Salem Gazette says there is no choice in the 2d Congressional District. Mr. King the present member falls short thirteen votes of a re-election.

VERMONT.—A second trial to choose members of Congress in the 2d and 4th districts of Vermont, took place on Tuesday the 10th inst. Mr. Collomore (Whig) was re-elected in the 2d district and there is again no choice in the 4th district.

IOWA.—Accounts from this new State are contradictory; the Iowa Reporter of the 4th inst. states that the Democrats have elected their candidates for Governor and Congress and will have a majority in the Legislature.

The Galena Gazette says the Whigs have a clear majority in the Legislature and that the Democrats have elected their Governor and members of Congress.

DELAWARE—Official. Tharp, Democrat, has 130 majority for Governor.—Houston, Whig, for Congress, 147. Legislature—Senate, 5 Whigs, 4 Democrats. House, 11 Whigs, 10 Democrats.

NORTH CAROLINA.—George E. Badger, who was Secretary of the Navy under Gen. Harrison, is named as the probable successor of Mr. Haywood in the Senate of the United States.

THE STEAMER GOVERNOR, one of the staunchest and best boats in the country, has been placed on the Mail route between Stonington and New York, instead of the Oregon, which has been laid up for the winter. The O. is to receive some trifling repairs, and a new and larger pair of wheels are to be put upon her.

The War Department has made a requisition for eight regiments of volunteers,—one from each of the states of Massachusetts, New York, Pennsylvania, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Louisiana, Mississippi, and one of mounted men from Texas.

CONGRESS meets on the 7th of December, three weeks from Monday, and by the Constitution must adjourn in 12 weeks exactly, on the 4th of March.

THANKSGIVING in New Jersey, will be held on the 26th of November.

ILLNESS OF MR. ADAMS.—The public will be pained to learn that the venerable JOHN QUINCY ADAMS was yesterday forenoon seized with a paralysis of his left side, which for a time rendered him nearly insensible. He had just left the residence of his son, the Hon. Charles F. Adams, in Mount Vernon street, in a state of health, when the gentleman with whom he was walking, suddenly perceived that he was laboring under some severe affection of his limbs, and was obliged to assist him to prevent his falling. He was conveyed back to his son's house and received immediate medical aid. After a short time his consciousness returned, and he was subsequently much relieved, and able to converse, and we are happy to learn was not considered in immediate danger. Mr. Adams is, we believe, about 80 years of age, notwithstanding which he has hitherto been able from the vigor of his constitution to endure unremitted labor, like a man in the prime of life.—Boston Adv. of yesterday.

FROM GEN. WOOL'S ARMY.

Camp on the Rio Grande. 11th, October, 1846.—The advance of the army under Gen. Wool arrived here day before yesterday. We made the distance, 187 miles, in eleven marching days, through prairie country, with a burning sun. The advance consists of Major Bonneville's command of three companies of the 6th infantry and one company of Kentucky volunteers; two companies of Illinois volunteers under command of Major H. L. Webb; the flying artillery under Capt. Washington; two regiments of dragoons under Col. Harney; two companies of the first regiment Illinois volunteers under Captain Morgan, and Col. Yell's regiment of Arkansas mounted men—together with a train of about 200 wagons, each drawn by six mules. Not a man was lost or died on the road, and not a wagon or mule was lost.

To-day our general takes formal possession of the town of Presidio, and will move on towards Monclova in three or four days, so as to be in striking distance of Gen. Taylor, should he require our services. Two regiments of Illinois volunteers are yet back. The first, under Col. Hardin, will probably arrive to-morrow; the other will not be here for ten days. The river at this place is about 300 yards wide, and very rapid and turbid like the Mississippi or Missouri. The whole train and the remainder of the troops will cross to-day, in boats brought on in wagons, which we are now putting together.

Gen. Wool deserves much credit for his untiring industry and perseverance.—He is a strict disciplinarian, but just and impartial to all. All the army are pleased with him.—N. Y. Courier & Enq.

SALT.—The violent gale of September has destroyed the prospect of making any salt in Turks Island this season. So says a late arrival.

NOBLE INSTITUTION.—In New York there is an association for the Relief of Respectable Aged Indigent Females, which has been favorably known for the last thirty-three years. Within their asylum are eighty aged women, depending, under God, upon its managers to provide their daily bread and all things needful for the body.

Bagdad, in the woods near Pensacola, contains a cotton factory; and five enterprising citizens of Pensacola have just established another in Arcadia, at a cost of $60,000. The operatives are all black girls.

FIRES.—The court house at Alligator, Florida, with the records, and the store of Isaac P. Hardee, were burnt by incendiaries on Sunday, while the citizens were at camp meeting. The court house was new and cost $8000, and Mr. Scarborough, clerk, lost $400.

Capt. Cole, of brig Dr. Hitchcock, of Boston, was requested by the collector of the port of Moule, Guadaloupe, to make known to masters of vessels through the papers of the United States, that they must have manifests of their cargoes regularly made out before entering any port in Guadaloupe—that they would be boarded by officers from vessels of war, which were ordered to cruise a certain distance for the purpose of examining their papers—and that if any vessel should be found without a manifest of her cargo, she would be fined 2000 francs.

A shocking murder was committed in Pittsburg on Saturday night. It appears that a deck hand, named Lancaster Sullivan, on the steamer Hudson, had a quarrel with the mate named Hackathorn, who caused his discharge at Cincinnati, and warned him against ever coming on the boat again. On Saturday night, the boat being at the wharf, Sullivan went to her about 8 o'clock. The mate saw him coming and asked him if he remembered his warning. A quarrel ensued, and the mate struck Sullivan over the head with a capstain, inflicting a wound of which he afterwards died. The murderer escaped.

An extensive business is carried on in Racine, Wisconsin, in the slaughtering and packing of beef. Messrs Masher & Norton slaughter about three hundred head each week. They have heavy contracts at the east, and probably pack $30,000 worth during the season.

Mr. Nathaniel Phillips, an old man-of-war's man, and a pensioner, is missing from Portland.

Strange Epidemic at Jersey City.—It appears from the Jersey City Sentinel, that for some months past a strange and distressing disease of the eye has been spreading amongst the inhabitants of that place. Its approach is very insidious, generally attacking its victims in one corner of the eye, indicating its design by a tickling or itching sensation, sometimes accompanied by extreme pain, causing weakness within, and inflammation without—frequently closing the eyelids so that the sufferer is unable to discern any object. The victims of its prey are scarce aware of its approach—so rapidly does it advance—before they find themselves almost totally blind.—Within three months no less than three of the hands, besides one of the proprietors, of the Sentinel, have in turn been compelled to yield to the painful touch of this unwelcome intruder, the latter of whom has not yet succeeded in compelling the ruthless invader to let go its burning grasp, and depart out of the coasts of his vision, having been a sufferer for more than two weeks.

From the Norridgewock (Me.) Journal.

We publish the following, as among the many evidences which we are constantly receiving of the increasing popularity of Dr. Jayne's Expectorant. We have no interest in "puffing" it—any further than we have a desire to promote the health and happiness of our fellow creatures, who are wasting away with those complaints, for which this medicine is an absolute remedy. And in calling the attention of the public to it, we feel that we are in the faithful discharge of our duty.

New Portland, Nov. 4, 1846.

Mr. Pratt,—Sir: I wish you to send me 3 bottles of Jayne's Expectorant, and in this connection, I would say, that I deem it an invaluable medicine, and an article that no family should be without for a single day. I have used it for two years in my family, and have always found it a quick and efficient remedy for tightness of the lungs, produced by long protracted colds, which produce the short hacking cough, the premonitor of Consumption, in which it so frequently terminates in this climate. If properly and seasonably administered, it will effectually break up the most violent colds, and thereby prevent the many violent fevers, so freqvently consequent upon them. I would most cheerfully recommend this medicine to the public in all cases of that nature, as invaluable.

JOHN H. WEBSTER.

Cholics and Fretting of Infants.

Every mother should have Jayne's Carminative. It is the very thing they need for their children, as it immediately cures the cholic, and allays all irritation of the stomach and bowels.

For sale in Newport, by Dr. R R Hazard.

AN INDUCEMENT.—At this time many articles are before the public for the removal of those diseases, incident to this season of the year, but no medicine will be more effectual than the Dandelion and Tomato Panacea, a purely vegetable medicine, that will arrest, and if timely administered, perfectly cure these diseases, by purifying the vital fluid, regenerating the constitution, dispelling diseased action, giving tone to the general energies of the system, and bringing with it health and renewed vigor. As an earnest that it is not merely for the sake of money that we are urging you to give it a trial, a guarantee is given that if a fair trial of the Panacea is made and no benefit results from its use, that the money shall be refunded. Try it—but be sure and see that my signature (written) is on each bottle—none others are genuine. Beware of the small bottles, they are offered for sale as purporting to be mine but are not.—See advertisement. Manufactured by JAMES KIDDER, JR. East Boston.

MARRIED.

In this town, on Monday evening last, by the Rev. Mr. Leaver, Mr. Salma M. Spink, of Fall River, to Miss Francis M., daughter of Mr. John Brown, of this town.

M. Littlefield, who was drowned in his effort to reach the shore on a squaresail boom) for three days and nights, without attracting notice or receiving succor. On the morning of the fourth day, their situation being espied from the shore (the thick weather prevented an earlier notice of it) help was sent to them, which on reaching the vessel took the captain and crew from the rigging. Previously to their being taken down, the cook died from exhaustion and suffering, and the Captain, doubtless from the same cause, died before he reached the shore. The residue of the crew suffered severely; but have recovered so far as to enable them to reach Norfolk. [Capt. Briggs had his residence in this place, where he has left a family, and Mr. Littlefield who was his brother-in-law, was the son of Capt. N. Littlefield, (of this town,) they were natives of New Shoreham.]
